N. B. This Table is sufficiently accurate for the purpose it is wanted for—that of ascertaining moon-light evenings.

Of the Changes of the Moon.

Many persons, understanding that the mean time between one new Moon and another is 29 days, 12 hours, 44 minutes and a fraction, imagine that, to find the sull or quarters of the Moon, they have only to add a half or fourth part of that time; and when they do not find the changes marked in the Calendar to correspond with this method, they impute it to mistake in the calculation of those changes. It is therefore, necessary to put them in mind, that the great inequality of the Moon's motions renders the above rule extremely inaccurate, so that nineteen times in twenty, it must fail in giving the true conjunction or change.

AMERICA. This great Western Continent, frequently denominated the New World, extends from the 80th Degree North to the 56th of fouth latitude; and, where its breadth is known, from the 56th to the 136th degree of W. Long. from London, ftretching from between 8 and 9000 miles in length, and its greatest breadth 3690. It sees both Hemispheres, has two fummers and a double winter, and enjoys all the variety of climates which the Earth affords. It is rash'd by the two great Oceans; to the Eastward it has the Atlantic, which devides it from Europe and Africa; to the West the Pacific, or great South Sea, which it is separated from Asia: by these seas it may, and does carry a direct commerce with the other bree parts of the World.

This great Continent is divided into two parts, one the North, the other on the South; which are join-by the Kingdom of Mexico, forming a fort of Isthus 1500 miles long, and in one part, at Darien, so tremely narrow, as to make the communication been the two Oceans by no means difficult, being y 60 miles. In the great Gulph which is formed ween the Isthmus and the northern and southern and Divisions of this Continent, lie an infinite multicof Islands, many of them large, most of them ile, and denominated, the West-Indies, in contration to the Countries and Islands of Asia, beyond Cape of Good Hope, which are call'd, the East-

UNITED KINGDOM OF GREAT-BRITAIN AND IRELAND.

This kingdom formerly England, Wales, Scotland and Ireland is fituated between 49° 50' and 50° 25' of North latitude, and between 7° 40' West, and 1' 50' of East longitude and contains about 15,000,000 inhabitants, according to the last Census,

The United Kingdom is a limited monarchy, and hereditary to both fexes. The King must be of the Protestant religion, as established. The King possible the executive power of government, and, with the Problement, shares in the legislative. Parliament is composed of the three estates, the Sovereign, the House Peers and the House of Commons.

The climate is mild, the foil for the most part at turally good, yielding every useful production, wing oil and silk excepted. The genius and industry of the people, in the arts of agriculture and gardening, at the mode of feeding cattle, breeding horses and sheep have placed this beyond every other European count in this point.—The woollen manufactures of England, and the produce of their mines, &c. are included that the fources of riches.

The advantage of a insular situation, many excellent harbours, and we extent of sea line, have highly contributed to her periority; but her prodigious improvements in an annufacture and mechanical art, joined to her laws for the protection of trade, and the high resist in which her mercantile character is held, have admitted her yet more. A BRIEF ACCOUNT OF CANADA.

Written in 1811.

To which is added a Sketch of the late American War.

THE name of Canada was originally applied, by Europeans, to the land on the fouth-western shores of the Gulph of St. Lawrence, and on both sides of that River, from its mouth to some distance above Quebec. The River St. Lawrence, itself, was called la Grande Riviere du Ganada. The name was sterwards extended to all the countries which were explored by adventurers from the settlements along the River. The whole of the French possessions in North America were, latterly, comprehended uner the name of New France.

Canada, as it is generally understood at the preent day, is bounded to the east by the Gulph of St.
awrence and the country on the Labrador Coast
nnexed in 1809 to the government of Newsoundind; to the north, by the territory of the Hudson's ay Company; to the west, by undefined boundaes, but which may be supposed to extend, by vir-

e of occupation by the Fur Traders, and the disveries of M'Kenzie, to the Pacific Ocean; to the fouth, it is bounded by unexplored countries & e United States of America, to wit: the northeft territory, the Michigan territory, the States

Ohio, Pennsylvania, New-York, Vermont, w-Hampshire, the District of Maine, and by the tish Province of New-Brunswick. The division e on the south, from the Grand Portage on Lake perior, runs through the Great Lakes and down St. Lawrence to latitude 45, and thence along at line to Connecticut River, from thence it solars the highlands which separate the waters rung into the Saint Lawrence and the Atlantic, till each due north of the st. Croix River, the boung between the United States & New-Brunswick.

The whole of this extent of country, as far as it was then explored, was, from 1774 to 1791, under the Government of the Province of Quebec. In 1791 it was divided into Upper and Lower-Canada, by a boundary commencing at Pointe au Bodet, on Lake saint Francis, about 55 miles above montreal, and running northerly to the Ottawa River, and up that River to its fource in Lake Tomiscaming, and thence due north to the Hudson's Bay boundary.

Lower-Canada lies between the 45th and 50th de. grees of north latitude, and rhe 62d and 82d degrees of west longitude, from Greenwich. The eastern half of the country is mountainous, and generally uncultivable. On the fouth shore of the saint Lawrence, the mountains do not recede considerably from the River, till within about 60 miles below Quebec; they then run in a fouth-westerly and southern direction till they reach the Green Mountains; on the western side of lake Champlain they extend north-westerly, in the direction of the great rapids of the St. Lawrence. On the north shore, they can hardly be said to leave the river till they reach Quebec, from which they extend in a western and fouthern direction, till they again appear in fight of the mountains on the fouth shore, towards the above rapids. The country lying between these mountains, comprifing an extent of about two hundred miles from east to west, and 180 from north to south, at the broadest part, is level, with the exceptions of the insulated moun. tains of Montreal, Belæil and Chambly. Nearly in the middle of this tract of country, flows the St. Lawrence, varying from a mile to upwards of twenty miles in breadth, navigable for vessels of 300 tons 600 miles from the sea, and receiving on the north the waters of the Ottawa, l'Achigan, the St. Maurice, the Batiscan, the fainte Anne, and the Jacques Cartier, and on the fouth, the Chambly, the Yamaska, the faint Francis, the Nicolet, the Becancour, and the Chaudiere, all of which, in Europe, would be ranked as rivers of great (189) magnitude. The fources of all these rivers, excepting the Ottowa and the Chambly, lie, considerably, to the east of their embouchures. They have, generally, high banks, along which the soil and growth of timber is inferior to that of the country further back. All of them, excepting where they are nearly on a level with the saint Lawrence, have a second bank at some distance from that which now contains their waters; the same thing is observable of the saint Lawrence.—The waters of none of these rivers are clear, excepting the saint Lawrence itself, which, before its junction with the Ottawa, consists of the most transparent water in the world.

The Soil on both fides of the faint Lawrence, in the western portion of the tract of country above described, is, for the most part, clayey, without stones, excepting here and there globular masses of granite, lying on the furface. Newly cleared land is, invariably, covered with a dark mould, produced by diffolved vegetable substances. As you approach the mountains, the foil is more light and loamy; these lands are the easiest to be cleared, and are at first very productive; towards Quebec the foil is poorer, frequently stony or shingly, and there are large tracks of fandy foil, covered with only a very fight coating of the vegetable mould. The mountains, generally, confift of granite; though there are, throughout the country, extensive strata of limestone. and not unfrequently stones having the appearance of volunic production. The part of the country in cultivation, confifts of from one to five leagues back, at both banks of the St. Lawrence, and of the rivers which empty into it; there are also settlements along the boundary of the United States from the Connecticut River to the faint Lawrence, at St. Regis. The rest of the country, to the very tops of the mountains, is covered with timber of a species and growth congenial to the soil.

The Climate of Canada, resembles that of the countries on the continent of Europe fituated from 10 to 15 degrees further north. The temperature upon Fals. renheit's scale, varies at present from about 30 below sero, to between 90 and 100 above it. In common years the cold does not exceed 20 below zero, and the heat from 80 to 90. About 60 or 70 years ago, the extreme of cold used to be stated at 30 degrees below freezing, of Reamur, or 36 below o of Fahrenheit. The variation, in a few minutes, in the winter feafon, has been known to be upwards of fifty degrees. It is frequently, in a few hours, 30 degrees. A remarkable instance of variation happened on the 18th Jan. 1810. when the thermometer stood a few degrees below tem. perate, and was almost instantaneously down to below The change of temperature in the fummer fea. fon, is also frequently very abrupt. These changes are generally accompanied with a change of wind; only two of which can be faid to prevail along the river, the eafterly and westerly. In all storms of easterly wind, and almost at every other time, the upper strata of clouds, when visible, is moved by a westerly wind. In winter, the easterly wind inclines more to the north. east, and the westerly to the north-west. Throughout the whole extent of Lower-Canada, a flight degree of frost sometimes happens in the summer months-There is a material difference of temperature between the eastern and western divisions of the country. The difference is discernible at between 20 to 30 league (60 to 90 miles) above Quebec; beyond that, to the westward, agricultural labour may be prosecuted, and vegetation is active, during nearly feven months in the year; round Quebec, it is rarely practicable for more than fix months, at the expiration of which, the following is frozen, or covered with snow, and vegetation do-This period, for the western division, is from mant. the 15th November to the 15th April; for the easten, from the 1st Nov. to the 1st May. fown in the spring, the wheat first, and then peas and oats. The sort of wheat most generally sown, is ripe in four months from the time of sowing; there is, however, another species, a bearded wheat, which ripens in three months; the time oats require. Fair and foul weather were formerly more distinct than they are at present; cold and warm weather were less intermixed, and the winds less variable. This alteration is not considered, in Canada, as an improvement of the climate.

All the vegetable Productions which thrive in the same latitudes in Europe, prosper in Canada, whenever they have been introduced, and cultivated with judgment and care. The excess of heat in summer, makes up for the deficiency of time. Melons are brought to maturity in the open air, without the aid of artificial heat. Wheat is the chief agricultural production of Lower-Canada. It affords the principal vegetable food of the inhabitants. Hitherto, it has been cultivated more in that view, than as an article of foreign trade. The many accidents to which this grain is liable, require that a quantity sufficient to afford a supply in the event of a bad year, be fown every year. When a good year happens, there is then a great furplus; and it is of the produce of such years, that the most exten. five exportations have been made. There is besides no certainty of an extensive foreign demand. Spain and Portugal and the West Indies, were the most steady markets; but the natural disadvantages which Canada labours under, prevent her from standing a competition In those markets with the United States. It must be observed, however, that the quantity of wheat sown by each farmer, is, generally, to the extent of his prefent means. These can only be increased by more enlarged views, which would lead to greater efforts, and tudicious improvements in his system, or rather routine, of cultivation. The greatest quantity of wheat ever exported from Canada, was in 1802. It amounted to 1,010,033 bushels. There were besides exported that year, 28,30s barrels of flour, and 22,051 cm. of biscuit. Animal food has generally been furnished in abundance in Lower-Canada; the price having generally been much lower here than in any other part of North America. But, for four or five years back, the demand for lumber from Canada, the confe. quent high price of labour, the increase of consumer, and the stagnation of the American trade, has effected a great rife in the price of this article, as well as of vegetable food, and enabled foreigners to enter into competition with the inhabitants of Canada, even in their own markets. The value of the exportations from the St. Lawrence in 1810, has been estimated by mercantile men, at 1,200,000 pounds sterling, includ. ing disbursements of ships employed in the trade, the number of which was 661, men 6578, tonnage 143891, and also the value of 5896 tons of new ships built in the Provinces A considerable proportion of the produce of the United States, and all the Furs obtained in the Indian Countries, are included in the general a mount. The price of labour, in the towns, for four years past, may be estimated at 4/. (four-fifths of a dollar) per day, throughout the year; one half of which fum has been paid for board and lodging. Bread has been at about 21d. per lb. and beef 5d.

Canada was Discovered in the year 1535, by Jacques Cartier, a native of St. Malo, in France. He had explored the Gulph of St. Lawrence the preceding year, and carried off from Gaspe (Gachepé) two of the natives of the country round Quebec. The next year they served him as interpreters. On the 8th September, 1535, he arrived in his boats at Quebec, in search of a place to lay up his vessels for the winter, and he sixed upon the River St. Charles. On the 14th, his vessels, the Grande Hermine, of 120 tons, the Paint Hermine, of 60, and the Emerillon, of 40 tons, arrived from the lower end of the Island of Orleans, where he had left them. All the foregoing dates, it should be observed, are Old Stile, and require ten days to be added to each, to correspond with the same dates at present. In 1540 a Governor (Roberval) was appointed for Canada, and settlers sent out. Cartier was made Captain-General and Pilut of the vessels employed on the occasion; but Roberval fixed upon Cape Breton for a settlement. There Cartier remained seventeen months, and then returned to France with a ruined fortune, and died foon Merwards. In 1588, his nephews, Delalaunaye Chaon, and Jacques Noel, obtained an exclusive privilege trade to Canada for 12 years, as an indemnification or the losses their uncle had sustained; but this priilege was revoked four months after it was granted. 1 1598 a Sieur de la Roche, Marquis de Cottenmeal, stained a commission to conquer and settle the coun-

In 1714, the population of Canada did not much exceed 20,000 fouls. The Colony had, however, then become, and long continued, a terrible scourge to the English settlements. In 1629 it was in the possession of the English, but was restored by treaty, in 1612, neither party then fetting any value on it. In 1600 a formidable English expedition made an attempt upon Quebec, but it failed, after landing the troops at the Canardiere, near the city. Another was frustrated by thipwreck, at the Seven Islands, near the mouth of the River, in 1711. Nova Scotia was, however, wrested from the French, and ceded by the Treaty of Utrecht, in 1713. All the wars in Europe, between England and France, were carried on with great rancour in the Colonies. The war of 1756, had its origin in disputes bout the limits of Canada. The French, by their connexions with the Indians, had overrun, at an early eried, the whole of the country lying between the Algany Mountains, the Great Lakes and the Missisippi. They claimed the whole by right of discovery, and ceson by the Indians; thus confining the English Coloies to a firip of land on the Sea Coast. The animo. ities had come to such a head, that hostilities were ommenced, in those parts, about a year before war as declared in Europe. The efforts of Great Britain nd her Colonies, in this war, were proportionate to the angers with which the latter were threatened. utset was unfavourable. An English army perished ith Braddock, in 1756. Another was defeated at sconderoga, (Carillon) in 1758. The British Navy, wever, acquired an accendancy, and a great Statesan took the helm of affairs in England. A combined attack from the Sea, by Lake Champlain, and from Lake Ontario, was planned for 1759, which was ultimately crowned with success. The glory of the achievement was acquired by Gen. Wolfe, who commanded the expedition from the fea. When all feemed to be loft, by one of those apparently hazardous attempts, through which men of superior mind, alone, can discern success, he brought the principal French army in the country to a battle on the Plains of Abram. There he died like a true foldier; and his victory decided the fate of Canada.

It was thought that they ought to contribute to alleviate the burthens which it occasioned. An attempt to this ef. fect, was followed by a general refistance on the part of the Colonists, to which they were, no doubt, en. couraged by the prospect of being no longer in want of British assistance. About the close of the summer of 1775, they invaded Canada by Lake Champlain, & from the fources of the Kennebec River. Before those employed on the latter expedition, could reach Quebec, through the extensive forests which then separated New-England and Canada, those from Lake Champlain had nearly fucceeded in capturing Chambly, St. John and Montreal. The few regular troops in the Province were lost in those places, and on board the river craft which furrendered between Sorel and Montreal. On the 3d Nov. after being 32 days in the woods, Arnold's party came out at the fettlements on the Chaudiere River, without artillery, half naked, half armed, perishing with hunger, and more like beggars than invaders.

On the 9th he reached Point Levi. On the 12th Col. M'Lean, who had retired from Sorel on hearing of Arnold's approach, reached Quebec with about 150 recruits. On the 14th, Arnold, who had passed the River in the night, appeared on the plains, where he paraded for a few days, in the hope that his friends in the town might procure the furrender of the City; but M'Lean threatening to attack him, he thought it adviseable to retire to Pointe aux Trembles, and wait for Montgomery, the commander in chief, who was to come from Montreal. On the 19th, General Carleton, who had escaped from on board the craft below montreal, before their furrender, arrived. On the 5th Dec. Montgomery and Arnold made their appearance at Sainte Foy. Gen. Carleton had suffered every body to leave the town that was so disposed. He, nor those that remained, would hold no communication with rebels. montgomery was therefore reduced to open his fix gun battery on the town; but the weather foon forced him to defift. On the 31st Dec. before day light in the morning, he attempted an affault, by Près de Ville and the Sault au Matelot, the southern and northern extremities of the Lower-Town. enlistment of a number of his men, and which he gained the men over to attempt, by the hope of plunder, the enemy confined himself to firing a few shots, in the spring, at the town, from Pointe Levi, and an attempt to burn the shipping in the Cul-de-Sac. On the 6th May, three ships of war arrived, with two companies of the 29th regiment, which, with fome marines, about 200 in all, were immediately landed, and marched out with the gar. The enemy was found to be on the retreat. having left every thing which could not be carried off on men's shoulders. He made no halt till he reached Sorel, where he received reinforcements, & detached 2000 men, with an intention of surprising the part of the British forces which had reached Three-Rivers. This detachment was defeated with great lois; their commander, and about 200 men, remained prisoners. On the 27th may, 474 of the enemy had furrendered at the Cedars. On the 16th June, Montreal was evacuated; and at the end of the month, the whole Province. At the time of the invasion, there were not more than eight or nine hundred regular troops in the Province. Almost the whole of these surrendered in Fort Chambly and Saint John, and in the Craft retiring from There was no militia in existence, It was only on the 10th Sept. that the Canadian mill. tia officers of Quebec received commissions. The Americans, including Arnold's force, did not exceed 4000 men. The garrison of Quebec, during the siege, consisted of about 300 recruits and marines, 400 seamen, and 800 militiamen, in all, 1500. The besiegers, till the 31st Dec. consisted of about the same number. From that time, to the 1st of march, they did not exceed 700 effective men. In march they had about 1800, in April 2000. At the time of the evacuation of the Province, they had about 8000 men; but the British army then amounted to 13,000. Since that time, to the present, Canada has not witnessed the presence of an enemy.

On the 18th June, 1812, the United States of America, after several years of complaints and negociations, declared war against Great Britain. The moment feemed to be favorable; the great and then deemed invincible enemy of England, was preparing to Arike the blow which was to lay the continent of Europe at his feet, or render it entirely subservient to his views against he only power which had always refisted him. British armies were occupied in a war for the indepenence of Spain; the treasures of Britain were lavished in apport of her allies. Upper-Canada was partly peopled y emigrants from the United States, who might be suppled unwilling to shed the blood of their kindred; the cople of Lower-Canada had but recently been repreated by authority as seditious, or so easily turned way from their allegiance as to endanger the Governent. There were but about 4000 British troops in th Provinces, scattered along a frontier of 1300 miles; e St. Lawrence, an immense military highway, open the United States, and leading into the heart of Cada, undefended, and thus endangering the existence the British forces stationed on its borders. the specie of the country had been suffered to be carried into the United States. Since the war of 1775, there had existed in the Canadas a militia merely in name. ferving chiefly to drain, annually, a few thousand dollars from the public coffers. Accordingly, on the arrival of the news of the declaration of war, at Montreal and Quebec, the first thought of many individuals in The Governor, those Cities, was that of packing up. Sir GEORGE PREVOST, and the people at large, thought differently. It was determined to defend both Proving. ces; the Legislature was affembled; Government Pa. per, bearing interest, and payable in Bills of Exchange on England, was substituted for specie. Two Batta. lions arriving in the country to relieve two others under orders for their departure, added to the regular force. At the instance of the Government, a law had passed during the preceding winter, for drafting the militia for active service, and four weak Battalions had been affer bled before the war. Every description of force was now put into activity; the Citadel of Quebec was guarded by the inhabitants of the Town, proud of the duty, and of the confidence of the Government, and extending the same feelings throughout the country, In a month after the declaration of war, the Lower Province seemed to be prepared to become the assailant,

The Americans had collected, in the summer of 1811, their principal regular force on their north-western frontier, against the Indians, whom they attacked. This force, joined by militia and volunteers, had set out on its march for Upper-Canada, long before the declaration of war. It made roads through immense forests, depending on these roads for its communications and supplies, and arrived at Detroit, on the 5th July, about 2500 strong. The British force on that frontier was merely nominal. On the 12th July, the enemy's General passed over into Upper-Canada, and issued a Proclamation to the apparently defenceless inhabitants, inviting them to join his standard, or at least to remain inactive, assuring them of the protection of

After some trifling affairs with the handful of British troops stationed at Amherstburg, and hearing of the furrender of Michilimacinack. on the 17th Juy, to a few foldiers, voyageurs and Indians. he became alarmed for his own fafety, and returned to Detroit on the 7th August. Sir George Prevost had entrusted the government and command of Upper-Canada to General Brock, a downright politician, an able. active and spirited soldier; he had insused an excellent spirit into the loyal inhabitants. The command of Lake Erie still remained with the British. On the 5th August, Brock prorogued his Parliament at York, on the 12th he was at Amherstburg, and on the 16th, General Hull, and his whole army, furrendered to a force of 330 regulare, 400 militin, and 600 Indians.

People could hardly believe their own eyes, when they faw so considerable a part of the American regular sorce, marched captive into Montreal and Quebec, within two months after they heard of the war. This pleasing sight, however, produced some mischievous effects: the enemy was undervalued. Men who never had heard the whistling of a musket ball, or had a bayonet pointed at their breasts, dared to speak of the Americans as cowards, their army contemptible. Those who are excessively brave at the corners of the streets, and over their wine, now contemplated and publicly announced projects and opinions, as ill digested and ill sounded, as those which so recently had led to the surrender of Hull; projects and opinions which, however, produced many of our future disasters.

Within less than two months after the surrender of Hull, the enemy had collected a large force on the Nia- ara frontier. On the 13th October, this force crossed ver into Upper-Canada, at Queenston, overpowering he small detachment stationed there. Brock was at jort George, His ardor hastened him to the spot be- ore his army. He put himself at the head of a small arty which was still resisting the enemy, and his country was too early deprived of his talents and his fervi. The enemy obtained possession of the heights. but was foon distodged, and in great part made prifo. ners, by General Sheaffe, on whom the command had devolved. A temporary truce ensued in this quarter, till it was interrupted by a ridiculous gasconade and impotent attempt at invation, on the 20th and 28th Nov. near Fort Erie, by the American Gen. Smyth. And. ther nearly parallel attempt was made about the fame time by the British naval force on Lake Ontario, against Sacket's Harbour. The reft of the winter passed away without any military event, excepting on the 22d fan. General Proctor, after a smart action, captured 400 prisoners, with the American General Winchester, on the Detroit frontier, and an attack on Ogdensburg, which in reality meant nothing, unless it had been prelude to an attack on Sacket's Harbour.

From the time of the furrender of Hull, the Ame. ricans, however much they chused to blame that off, cer, seem to have been fully aware of the true cause of his difaster; they strained every nerve to obtain the mastery of the Lakes. The ice no sooner disappeared on Lake Ontario, than they were out with a superior naval force from Sacket's Harbour. On the 27th April, they landed and took possession of York, the capital of Upper-Canada, destroyed the public building, wreaked their vengeance on a printing press, and de-Groyed the frame of a ship building for the Britishia vice on the Lake, General Sheaffe retiring, after form refistance, towards Kingston. The enemy's fleet proceeded to Niagara, where it landed troops, and then me turned to Sacket's Harbour, from whence it conveyed additional forces to the same quarter. May, General Vincent was driven from the positions Fort George, and the place captured; the British tiring along the Lake towards Burlington Bay, leaving the whole Niagara frontier, containing a very law proportion of the whole population of Upper-Canal in the power of the enemy. this time returned from the rapids of the Miami, where he had captured 467 American soldiers, and killed or wounded as many more; but the enemy was still collecting, and his communications threatened. From Fort George, the American army proceeded in pursuit of General Vincent, depending on the Lake for its supplies, and determined to take possession of Burlington heights, which would have left no communication for General Proctor. General Vincent was at Burlington heights. The enemy had advanced to Stoney Creek, confiding on his superiority, and his distance from the British. Lieut. Col. Harvey, Dep. Adjt. Gen. conceived and chiefly executed the project of surprising the enemy in the night. Before day on the 6th June. he entered the enemy's camp, confisting of about 3000 men, with 704 bayonets, killing and wounding a great number of the enemy, and retired carrying off 2 Generals and 120 prisoners. This affair so effectually disconcerted the Americans, that they returned hastily to Fort George, opening to the British the communication with part of the Niagara frontier, and in fact faving for the time the whole upper part of the Province. The furrender of 541 of the enemy, under Boerstler, to the Indians and a few British soldiers, confined the enemy to Fort George.

While the American troops and their naval force were absent at the head of the Lake, an attempt was made on Sacket's Harbour. Col. Baynes, Adjt. Gen. had nominally the command, but Sir George Prevost, the Commander in Chief, was present. He called off the troops after they had reached the desences of the place, and had sustained considerable loss. This affair, by the opportunity which it afforded to Sir George's political enemies to lessen the estimation in which he was held, and by the misunderstanding, of which it aid the foundation, between him and the naval ferice, proved very unfortunate to the British interest in he Canadas during the remainder of the war-

The campaign continued for some time without any event of much moment. On the 3d June, two American vessels fell into the hands of the British troops at Isle aux Noix. On the 11th July, there was an attack on Black Rock, and on the 3oth of that month, Col. Murray destroyed the American Barracks at Plattsburg.

On the 10th Sept. Commodore Perry, with a naval force long blockaded at Erie, captured the whole of the British force on Lake Erie. General Proctor could no longer be supplied on the Detroit frontier; his only remaining communication was by land feveral hundred miles through forests. His fituation was now become that of Hull at Detroit: he had one advantage, howe. ver, which Hull had not; the friendship of the Indians. He unaccountably delayed his retreat for a fortnight after the loss of the fleet, and till the near approach of a superior force of the enemy. On the 5th October, he was only three days march (56 miles) from Detroit, pursuing his retreat along the Trenche, His force confisted of less than a thousand British and militia, and about 1200 Indians; the Americans were upwards of 3000. A sudden charge of mounted rifle. men, broke the British line; the whole was thrown into confusion, and the greater part of the British became prisoners. The Indians in another part of the field, fought bravely, but the Americans finally prevail. ed. They returned immediately after the action to Detroit, with their prisoners, and Proctor, with a few straglers and a number of Indians, assembled at Ancas. ter, on the 17th Oct.

A large proportion of the American forces on the Niagara frontier, proceeded down the Lake early in October, and were followed by land by part of the British forces. The diminished numbers of the remaining part of the British army, the disaster on Lake Erie, and the state of affairs on the Detroit frontier, again compelled its commander to fall back on Burlington heights.

The American forces were gradually collected at the lower ends of Lakes Ontario and Champlain, under Generals Wilkinson and Hampton, with the intention of making a combined attack on Montreai, while the chief part of the British regular force was in Upper-Canada. It was evident that if this attack should have fucceeded, and the command of that City and the furrounding country been retained by the Americans, Upper-Canada was conquered, and every British soldier in it a prisoner, or forced to fight his way to Quebec. There was nothing to prevent Wilkinson, with suitable boats. and able pilots for the rapids, to land on the island of Montreal, with an army completely equipped, in three or four days after his leaving Lake Ontario. Hampton was only a couple of days march from the St. Lawrence. Sir George Prevoft, who had feturned to the Lower Province, called upon the people of Lower-Cahada to defend their country; and never was the call of a commander, under fimilar circumstances, more cheerfully obeyed. The fighting, however, fell to the lot of the embodied militia and regular forces. On the 21st of Oct. the former entered the Province, with a force variously stated at from 3000 to 7000 men, apparently with the intention of penetrating to the St. Lawrence by the River Chateauguay. On the 26th, he came upon Col. De Salaberry's position on that river, about 30 miles from the frontier. This officer, a native of Canada, helonging to one of its old and most distinguished families, had served with the British army in various parts of the world. To great activity and personal intrepidity, he united military science and experience, and possessed the entire confidence of his little force, the

Col. De Salaberry took advantage of all the protection to his men, that time, and the facilities afforded by a woody country, permit; and poured in a deadly fire, every man making sure of his object, the Colonel setting the example. The enemy's loss was considerable, but has never been correctly ascertained; that of Col. De Salaberry's force, was 2 killed, and 16 wounded. Hampton retired to the frontier, and thence to Plattsburg, where he remained in a state of inactivity, his army dwindling away by sickness and desertion.

General Wilkinson, with his army, left Grenadier Island on the 5th Nov. in boats and other craft. It consisted of between eight and nine thousand men, completely equipped and provided. He passed the British Fort at Prescott on the night of the 6th. It was a beautiful moon-light: he might have been the next evening at the island of Montreal, as soon as General Prevost could receive the account of his approach. The militia called to oppose Hampton, had just been sent to their homes. Wilkinson, however, landed part of his troops to pass Prescott; he again landed the greatest part of them on the British side, above the Long Sault, in quest of obstacles which did not exist. These delays gave time to detachments from the garrisons of Kingston and Prescott, to overtake him, and to Sir George Prevost again to call out the militia, about twenty thousand of whom were assembling from various parts of the country. On the 11th Nov. the American General Boyd, with about 2000 men, of the élite of the American army, marched against Col. Morrison, who commanded the forces from Kingston and Prescott which

The American forces having been chiefly withdrawn from the Niagara frontier, the British in that quarter prepared to act on the offensive. On the 12th Decr. the enemy evacuated Fort George, and burnt the town of Newark, leaving the inhabitants, to all of whom they had promised protection, and many of them friendly to the Americans, ruined and houseless, in the midst of winter. On the 19th, Colonel Murray took Fort Niagara by surprise. On the 30th, Gen. Riall retaliated on the enemy, by destroying Black Rock and Buffalo.

Although many projects of hostilities were entertained on both sides, during the remainder of the winter, nothing was done, of any importance, till the 30th March, when Wilkinson, at the head of upwards of 3000 men, entered Lower-Canada on the western shore of Lake Champlain, and attacked, unsuccessfully, La Colle Mill, defended by Major Handcock, of the 13th Reg. and about 180 men. The Gen. then retired unmolested to the United States, and closed his military career.

The failure of the enemy's attempts against Lower-Canada, and the course of events in Europe, began to give a new character to the war. Instead of having for its object the wresting of Canada from Great Britain, it became, on the part of the United States, a war more of a defensive nature, or, at least, their offensive measures were confined to a part of the Upper Province.

Although the British naval force on Lake Ontario had ventured out of port during the preceding campaign, all the advantages of naval superiority were on the side of the Americans. Early in the season of 1814, Sir James L. Yeo, who, with naval officers, seamen and shipwrights, had arrived from England early in 1813, laid claim to the command of the Lake. Sir Gordon Drummond, with troops from Kingston, accordingly embarked in the fleet, and captured Oswego on the 6th May. The American fleet, however, soon seemed to have regained its former superiority.

The American army, now commanded by General Brown, well known in Lower-Canada before the war, as a plain farmer, and dealer in lumber and potash, the same who commanded at Sacket's Harbour when attacked by Sir George Prevost, assembled on the Niagara On the 3d July, this officer, at the head of between three and four thousand men, crossed over into Upper-Canada, at Black Rock, and obtained possession of Fort Erie, by capitulation. Riall fell back on Fort George, and on the 9th, to the twenty mile creek, where he received reinforcements. The enemy proceeded to invest Fort George, and committed indiscriminate plunder on the inhabitants of the frontier. The thriving village of St. David was entirely destroyed. On the 23d, Gen. Brown fell back to Queenston, and Gen. Riall advanced. On the 25th, in the afternoon, the two armies again met, near the falls. General Riall, after sustaining a severe loss, ordered a retreat. Gen. Drummond, who arrived at Fort George that morning, from York, with reinforcements, ordered an advance. The field was gallantly contested till midnight, when the enemy retired to his camp, and thence towards Fort ake Ontarion grampaign, on the side from 1814, Sir seamen and rly in 1813, Sir Gordon accordingly on the 6th magement to

The British army arrived before Fort Erie on the 3d August, and invested the place. On the 11th, the American armed schooners Ohio and Somers, aiding in the defence of the place, were carried by 75 British seamen, under Capt. Dobbs, in boats, some of which had been carried on men's shoulders from Queenston. On the night of the 15th, the British assaulted the Fort and were repulsed with heavy loss, the gallant and amiable Col. Scott, of the 103d, and the intrepid Col. Drummond, of the 104th, being among the killed. The total loss was 905; that of the enemy only 84.

After this unfortunate affair, Gen. Drummond converted the siege into a blockade.

On the 26th June, transports arrived at Quebec from Bordeaux, with the 6th and 82d Regts. They were ordered to the Niagara frontier, where they arrived late in August, having had to march round Lake Ontario. The principal part of the remainder of the troops which arrived from France, were assembled on the Richelieu River. where they were brigaded with the forces already in that quarter, under General De Rottenburg, for the purpose of carrying into effect instructions from England for offensive operations against the United States. exertions had for some time previous, been making on both sides, to ensure a superiority on Lake Champlain. On the 3d Sept. the British army, amounting to 11,000 men, under Sir George Prevost, passed the frontier by Odell Town, and reached Plattsburg with trifling opposition on the 6th, where the American Gen. Macomb occupied a fortified position with 1500 regulars, and as many of the inhabitants, all trained to arms, as could be collected from both sides of the Lake. From the 6th to the 11th, battering cannon were bro't up from the rear, and batteries erected by the British. On the 11th, the British flotilla from Isle aux Noix, came up and attacked the American naval force in the Bay; the land batteries opened at the same time, and the troops moved to the assault. When they had reached the heights on which the American works were situated, victory declared itself in favor of the American naval force. Sir George Prevost countermanded the orders for the attack; the next morning the whole army retreated, and on the 13th re-entered the Province, with a total loss of 235 men, exclusive of deserters, which on this, as on every other occasion when the British soldiers entered the enemy's country, was considerable.

On the 17th Sept. the American forces made a sortic from Fort Erie, which was repulsed, but with severe loss. On the 21st, the British broke up, and retired upon Chippawa, Fort George, and Burlington Heights. On the 17th Oct. Sir James Yeo appeared on the Lake, and brought reinforcements and supplies to General Drummond, the American squadron, under Chauncey, remaining in Sacket's Harbour. On the 5th Nov. the Americans evacuated Fort Erie, the only military post which they held in the Canadas; a predatory party which proceeded from Detroit, and penetrated more than a hundred miles into Upper-Canada, plundering the property, and destroying the dwellings of the loyal inhabitants, having also retired on the approach of a British detachment from B rlington Heights.

Michilimacinack, which the American superiority on Lake Erie and Lake Huron, enabled them to attack, had been gallantly defended by Col. M'Douall. The enemy burnt the establishment of the North West Company at Sault St. Marie. The Col. had, however, managed to send parties of Voyageurs and Indians to the head of the Missisippi, and captured the post of Prairie du Chien.

British naval officers and seamen, sent overland from York, had also captured, in open boats, two American armed schooners on Lake Huron, and preparations were making to secure the command of that Lake, and even recover that of Lake Erie, with which the former communicates by Detroit.

On the 24th December, 1814, a Treaty of Peace between the United States and Great Britain, was signed at Ghent; on the 18th February, 1815, it was ratified and proclaimed at Washington, and on the 9th March made known at Quebec, by Sir George Prevost.

Neither the close of the war, nor the Treaty, was considered in Canada as befitting the character of Great Britain, a nation who had so recently acted the principal part in reducing the most formidable power that had been known in modern Europe. Men who had beaten the most celebrated troops in the world, in a series of battles from Gibraliar to Bordeaux, were restrained from aeting against an inferior force at Plattsburg, and defeated and destroyed in an attack on mud breast works New-Orleans, defended by peasantry and raw levies. The whole conduct of the war, on the part of Great Britain, was considered as extraordinary. When Canada was to be defended, there was a deficiency of the force in which England abounded, ships and seamen, jeopardizing the whole country, notwithstanding the zeal and loyalty of the people, the many instances of distinguished military skill, and the general gallantry and persevering endurance of the army. When Britain could dispose of a force to act offensively against the United States, a few thousand soldiers were sent to an open and populous country, where an European army could operate to advantage, and a large force was sent against distant frontiers, where a regular force could neither act nor subsist itself, where, in fact, it was inferior to an equal number of militiamen and sharp-shooters, of which description all the inhabitants of these frontiers consisted. On the Ocean, Great Britain exposed the bravest of her sons to be butchered, or apparently disgraced, from an unpardonable ignorance of the superiority of the enemy's ships over those which were sent to contend against them; and to complete the whole, the officer who had been chiefly instrumental in preserving two of her finest Provinces, was disgraced, and only a scanty reparation offered to his memory, after he had died broken hearted.

The impartial and enlightened historian, is, however, alone competent to pronounce on these topics. It is from his judgment that there is no appeal. Its validity has no limit but that of the duration of civilized society.

The Population of Canada, at the time of the conquest, was about 60,000 fouls, including the whole of the settlements to Detroit. At present, the population of Lower-Canada is estimated at 400,000. about feven-eighths of which are of French descent, and profess the Roman Catholic Religion; the other eighth is composed of English, Irish, Scotch, Germans, Americans, and their descendants. Of these, the Americans are now the most numerous; the next the Scotch. Till recently, the latter have carried on nearly all the exterior trade of Canada. They now divide it with the English, Irish & Americans. There is hardly an instance of the French descendants, who are, almost exclusively, called Canadians in the country, being engaged in the external trade; they, however, share largely in the retail and internal trade. There are, as yet, no manufactories of note in Canada; those of leather, hats and paper, are, however, introduced, and the cloathing of the farmers is generally made in their families. There are two Iron Works in the vicinity of Three Rivers. The landholders are mostly Canadians, or of Canadian connexions. The lands granted by the Crown fince 1796, are chiefly held by British and Ameri-

create unreal wants, nor envy fours real enjoyments. in the ordinary state of human happiness, they are cheerful and lively. To evils beyond their controul, they submit with refignation. They are strongly attached to their religion, their country, laws, customs and manners; and utterly averse to all innovation, They partake of the French character, something in the same way as the New-Englanders partake of that of Englishmen. Both have been modified by circumstances, and now differ from their origin. Where there is plenty of land to cultivate, the man who lives by labour, depends only on the Almighty and himself. In America, the independent spirit of Englishmen sometimes degenerates into licentious coarseness; the servility of Frenchmen disappears. The Canadian peasant acknowledges superiors; to them he is respectful, but he expects a corresponding attention; an omission in this respect, is not easily forgiven. To his equals he is polite and obliging; inferiors he knows of none; what he possesses, he owes to his labour, and every well. behaved person enjoys the same means. If one of them ferves the other, he is as one of the family. The Canadian farmer is focial, to a vice; much of his time is facrificed to this quality. It is this which prevents the young people from removing to a distance to occupy new lands; it is this, also, which is the source of that value fet upon the opinion of others, which frequently degenerates into vanity. In his person, he is of the middle fize, firmly made, and active. There is no people capable of greater fatigue and privation. In these, the Canadian is fingularly supported by the gaiety of his disposition. His mind is unimproved; his ideas confined; his capacity excellent. In worldly concerns, he reasons and acts only from his own experience, his feelings, or some long received maxims. He is extremely mistrustful of what he reads or hears, particularly when it does not come from those of his own class. In spiritual concerns, he is guided by his Curate; who,

The Sovereign of Canada is the King of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, of which Canada is a dependancy. His authority is limited by the Laws of Great Britain, and by the Capitulations of the Province. The sovereign legislative authority, in His Majesty and the two Houses of Parliament. This authority, is again limited, by the Capitulations, and its own Acts; the most remarkable of which is, the Act 18th Geo. III. cap. 12. confirmed by 31st Geo. III. cap. 31. which declares that no taxes shall be imposed on the Colonies but for the regulation of trade, and that the proceeds of such taxes, shall be applied to and for the use of the Province, in such manner as shall be directed by any law or laws which may be made by His Majesty, his Heirs or Successors, by and with the advice and confent of the Legislative Council and Assembly of the Province. The Provincial Legislature, erected by the aforesaid Act, 31st Geo. III. cap. 31. (1791) confifts of His Majesty, acting by the Governor, or person administering the Government of the Province for His Majesty; of a Legislative Council, of not less than 15 members, appointed by His Majesty for life, under some exceptions; of a House of Assembly, of not less than 50 members, elected for 4 years, by His Majesty's subjects resident within the Province, and possessed, for their own use and benefit, in the Counties, of real property to the yearly value of 40s. sterling; in the Towns, of the yearly value of £5 sterling, or paying rent to the amount of £10 sterling. It is empowered to make laws for "the peace, welfare and good government" of the Province, fuch laws not being repugnant to the above Act. The Governor, in His Majesty's name, assembles, prorogues, and dissolves, the Two Houses. They must be called together once in every twelve calendar months. All questions arising in either of the two Houses, are decided by the majority of the members present, The Governor gives, with-

Laws affented to by the Governor, may be disallowed by His Majesty within two years. His Majesty cannot assent to any Act or Acts affecting the enjoyment of the Dues of the Clergy of the Church of Rome, or affecting the establishment of the Church of England within the Province, or the provisions made for the same, or the enjoyment or exercife of any religious form or mode of worship, or creating penalties, burthens, disabilities or disqualifications on that account, or granting or imposing any new Dues in favour of any Ministers of any form of worship, or affecting the prerogative touching the granting of the waste lands of the Crown, without such Acts having been 30 days before both Houses of the British Parlia. ment, and neither of the Houses having addressed His Majesty not to sanction the same. The Laws in force in Lower-Canada, are: 1st. The Acts of the British Parliament which extend to the Colonies. 2d. Capitulations and Treaties. 3d. The Laws and Customs of Canada, founded principally on the Custom of Paris, the Edicts of the French Kings, and their Colonial Authorities, and the Roman Civil Law. 4th. The Criminal Law of England, as it stood in 1774, and as explained by subsequent declaratory Statutes. 5th. The Ordinances of the Governor and Council, established by the Act of that year; and, 6th. the Acts of the These Laws are Provincial Legislature since 1793. executed in His Majesty's name, and, in virtue of his Commission and Inftructions, by the Governor, or person administering the government, by the means of a number of inferior officers, all of whom, with a few exceptions, he appoints during pleasure. The Governor also possesses all other powers and prerogatives, generally, which His Majesty may legally enjoy, and delegates to him. The Judiciary confists of a Chief Justice of the Province, and three Puisne Justices for the District of Quebec, a Chief Justice and three Puisné Justices for Montreal, a Provincial Judge for Three-Rivers, and one for Gaspé. | | • | N | 6 | | | | | | |

To turn any given Currency into any Currency required.

Rule 1. Let the value of the Spanish Dollar be expressed in Shillings, or Pence, in each of the Currencies, writing them in form of a Fraction, and making the

required Currency the Numerator Denominator of the Fraction.

Reduce this Fraction to its least terms, and it will ferve as a constant Multiplier, by which any sum of the given Currency being Multiplied, it will be converted into the Currency required.

N. B. When the Fraction is not an improper one the Multiplier will become a Divisor.

Examp. To form a rule for changing Sterling at 4/6. pr. Dollar into New-York at 8/. pr. Dollar.

Here Steeling is given, and York required: The Dollar York is 8/. or 96 Pence Numerator, Sterling 4/6. or 54 Pence Denominator.

Therefore $\frac{96}{54}$ is the Multiplier fought, which reduced to its least terms becomes $\frac{16}{9}$ or $1\frac{7}{6}$, therefore if Sterling be multiplied by 16 and divided by 9 the result will be York, thus. $\frac{16}{9}$ is the same as 2 into $\frac{8}{9}$, but $\frac{8}{9}$ is the same as 1 less $\frac{1}{9}$, therefore 2 into $\frac{8}{9}$ is equal to 2 into 1 less $\frac{1}{9}$, which is that Rule, expressed shorter thus, $\frac{16}{9} = 2 \times \frac{8}{9} = 2 \times 1\frac{1}{9}$.
